The podcast download problems we have been having lately (see below) point out a major issue with how I communicate with you. If you only subscribe to the podcast with iTunes or other podcatching client, you are cut-off from the information flow if anything goes wrong with the the podcast delivery.

I will be releasing a short audio podcast, and a PDF download for those who I can't reach directly via the blog, but I wanted to talk to those who do read the blog, too.
